Comments:

August 2004 was the first month of making my notes on "what really happened" - mostly after findings of the web presentation by Michael Rivero. After one year of making it in Word, I transferred it to Excel for faster sorting out of the various chapters.

In 2007, I have renamed the calendar "Alternative View." This is in reaction to the concern, frequently expressed by friends, of my apparent paranoia. Whereas the news tranfsferred by the Mainstream Media (MM) show one side of the occurrences, this shows another side, occasionally also cited in MM, and it is up to you to keep informed - often without necessary knowing, where to find the truth. In any case, it is an enrichment to see the news from the other side.

The majority of notifications are now getting a link. An unusual source is now labelled X - which source, you can see in the link. The vast majority of texts are in English but German is also frequent, Danish and French may appear (after all, I am making this for myself, you are cordially invited to read what you understand)

Rivero's and my comments are given in red, my own comments also with special {bracketts}. The quotations are used for various documentations (see sheet war-terror)

Abbreviations:

In order to present the quotations as short as possible, a number of abbreviations are utilized. While I am simultaneously emphasizing authendity, a number of rules have been developed, equally listed here. References to weekdays are deleted, these are ge
